College of Humanities and Fine Arts

Mission
The College of Humanities and Fine Arts strives to foster awareness and appreciation of the humanities, fine arts, and social sciences among students, the university community, and the public. The College is a learning community dedicated to the pursuit of knowledge and its application through civic and professional leadership. Students and faculty members act as advocates for the humanities, fine arts, and social sciences in a variety of ways, ranging from teaching and scholarly work to performance, exhibition, and consultation. To this end, the College actively promotes research and creative activities among its faculty and students.

The College seeks to provide a personalized learning experience promoting the free and rigorous pursuit of knowledge, respect for differing points of view and cultures, appreciation of personal expression in all its artistic forms, awareness of the role of an educated citizenry in a democratic society, and understanding of the role values play in thought and action. The College aims to develop students who think critically and creatively, communicate effectively, and participate actively in their communities. Thus, the College of Humanities and Fine Arts is committed to preparing well-educated, thoughtful, and contributing citizens of the world.

Programs
The College of Humanities and Fine Arts consists of the departments of Art and Design; English and Philosophy; History; Modern Languages; Music; Political Science and Sociology; Psychology; and Theatre.

Undergraduate degrees offered are Bachelor of Science, Bachelor of Arts, Bachelor of Fine Arts, Bachelor of Music Education, and Bachelor of Music. Graduate degrees are Master of Arts, Master of Fine Arts, Master of Music Education, Master of Public Administration, and Master of Science. Murray State University is an accredited institutional member of the National Association of Schools of Art and Design, the National Association of Schools of Music and the National Association of Schools of Theatre.

The College offers programs in the traditional humanities (English, philosophy, history, and modern languages); social sciences (political science and sociology); and behavioral science (psychology). The fine and performing arts (art, music, and theatre) offer traditional and contemporary programs in their disciplines through studio and classroom courses, performances, gallery events, and ensembles. Additionally, the college encourages all students to participate in the cultural and artistic life of the campus through creative writing colloquia, poetry readings, exhibitions, and participation in music ensembles, marching band, and/or choral groups. The college offers a variety of innovative arts, humanities, and social science courses through the institution's University Studies curriculum. English composition and the two interdisciplinary core courses, World Civilizations and Humanities, are integral parts of preparing every Murray State student to communicate effectively, to engage in sound analysis and make logical decisions, to understand the world's historical, literary, and philosophical traditions, to understand cultural diversity and competing economic and political systems as well as complex moral and ethical issues, and to become responsible citizens in a democratic society—all of which are desired characteristics of the Murray State graduate.

The college serves as the cultural heart of the university and the region by providing a broad range of cultural and intellectual programs. Campus and regional community members are encouraged to attend college events. Distinguished college faculty engage actively in teaching, scholarly/creative activity, and service. The college is committed to service to the community through its role in teacher education and involvement with the public schools. The English and Philosophy Department sponsors the Jesse Stuart Symposium as well as the MSU Reading Series each academic year. The Department of Political Science and Sociology annually sponsors the Harry Lee Waterfield Distinguished Lecture in Public Affairs.

In addition, the college offers students rich opportunities for international study and intercultural experience. MSU is a member of the Kentucky Institute for International Studies, a consortium of public and private universities offering study-abroad programs in numerous international destinations. Many college faculty are also involved in foreign travel and study in English-speaking countries. Opportunities to study in the U.K., Ireland, Australia, Canada, and other countries are available.

The college offers the Master of Arts degree in English, history, clinical and general experimental psychology, and Teaching English to Speakers of Other Languages (TESOL), the Master of Science in clinical and general experimental psychology, the Master of Music Education (M.M.E.), the Master of Public Administration (M.P.A.), and the Master of Fine Arts (M.F.A.) in creative writing. The college also supports the Master of Arts in Education in Secondary Education. Graduates of programs in the college pursue a variety of careers. In addition to teaching, graduates are employed in business, communications, government, law, the ministry, psychology, and a variety of private and social agencies, as well as international governmental and non-governmental organizations. Careers available in the fine arts fields include performance (vocal, instrumental, and theatrical), design, web design, graphic communications, and art, museum, and theatre management. All programs follow the liberal arts model of preparing students broadly for a rapidly changing job market. Students are prepared to communicate effectively, think critically, develop the analytical skills necessary to solve problems, learn on their own, understand human behavior, and imagine alternative ways of viewing problems. Several of the programs in the college provide excellent preparation for a career in law.

Departments and programs of the College of Humanities and Fine Arts are housed in four buildings on the main campus: the Price Doyle Fine Arts Center, Faculty Hall, Wells Hall, and Wilson Hall.

Note: L=literature; R=research; PT=professional training. See page 70.

Liberal Arts
The Liberal Arts major is designed for students interested in investigating connections between two or more traditional liberal arts fields. Following a wide-reaching University Studies and core program, students choose two 18-hour fields of study drawn from the arts, humanities, natural sciences, and social sciences, plus a minor, and at least one Study Abroad experience. Liberal Arts majors also produce a multidisciplinary senior project in which they explore a topic of interest that combines at least two of their fields of study.

Liberal Arts majors are self-motivated and think creatively across the disciplines. Liberal Arts majors prepare to serve the growing demand in business, industry, and the professions for broadly educated individuals who exhibit interpersonal, analytical, technical, and communication skills, as well as individual initiative. The Liberal Arts Coordinator is Barbara Cobb, who may be contacted by email (bcobb@murraystate.edu) or by calling 270-809-4538.

Department of Art and Design

604 Price Doyle Fine Arts Center
270-809-3784

Chair: Zbynek Smetana. Faculty: Beaver, Bryant, Gutwirth, Hand-Bryant, Jung, Lavery, Leys, Schrock, Smetana, Utgaard.

The Department of Art and Design provides a broad range of programs and professional opportunities for students preparing to work as practicing artists, craftspeople and designers, for careers in art education, and for graduate study in art, art education, and art history.

Students pursuing a degree in art may select a program of study leading to either the Bachelor of Fine Arts, the Bachelor of Arts, or the Bachelor of Science degree. Teacher certification in art is available to undergraduate students within each degree as an Track requiring only an additional year of study. Degree candidates are certified to teach art in kindergarten through grade 12. A minor in art and a minor in art history are also offered to the general college student. Elective courses in art appreciation, art history, and studio art are open to non-art majors. Graduate courses in art are offered in support of the M.A.Ed. with a teaching area in studio art.

The curricular structure of each degree program is organized to encourage students to study and explore a variety of media and techniques upon which later specialization may be based. Areas of specialization include ceramics, drawing, furniture design, graphic design, metalsmithing, photography, painting, printmaking, and sculpture. At the intermediate and advanced levels, students are encouraged by faculty to express their own personal direction and ideas and to establish professional standards by the exhibition of their work. The culmination of the student’s undergraduate study is the senior exhibition requirement.

The Institute for International Studies offers a variety of study abroad opportunities for MSU art students. Through direct exchanges and special international courses, students can study in a number of countries.

The department operates a network of four galleries on campus. Three galleries that comprise the Clara M. Eagle Gallery and the Curris Center Gallery. The Clara M. Eagle Galleries and the Curris Center Gallery provide the university and community with significant cultural and educational programs. The exhibition schedule offers work by historical and contemporary artists including MSU faculty, students, alumni... and visiting artists. A large portion of the exhibition space is continually used by the students. Department, class, and/or individual shows are always on view. Programs include the annual student art show and the visiting artist series.

Studies in all areas are well equipped, providing maximum opportunities for students to pursue their interests. Art facilities are housed primarily in the Price Doyle Fine Arts Center. The Clara M. Eagle Gallery is located on the sixth floor of the Price Doyle Fine Arts Center. The art gallery in the Curris Center is located on the first level.

NOTE: A grade of C or better must be achieved in all courses with the ART prefix that are applied to art area degree requirements. All courses with the ART prefix that serve as prerequisites require a grade of C or better before the next course in a sequence may be taken.

Scholarships
Scholarships and grants-in-aid are available to qualified art students. For additional information refer to the scholarship section of this Bulletin or contact the scholarship person in the Department of Art and Design.

Graduate Program

The graduate courses taught by the Department of Art and Design provide course work for candidates seeking the Master of Arts in education with a teaching area in studio art, and other graduate programs.

Master of Arts in Education
Secondary Teacher Leader with Teaching Area in Studio Art

CIP 13.1205

The Department of Art and Design provides instruction in support of the M.A.Ed. in Secondary Teacher Leader with a concentration in studio art. Prospective students should contact the graduate coordinator in the academic subject department and the College of Education and Human Services for details on advising and graduate program design.
The Department of English and Philosophy helps students explore the world of words and ideas while preparing for a variety of creative and dynamic careers. Students majoring in the department’s programs can look forward to success in fields such as creative writing, technical writing, business, publishing, teaching, law, and journalism. Through their studies at Murray State, English and Philosophy majors gain the flexibility of a well-developed mind, a facility with the power of language, and the analytical skills employers want.

To reach their goals, students may choose from a number of areas, tracks, and minors. Note: Each track program described below—Literature track, Creative Writing track, two English Education tracks—shares a core of courses. Each philosophy track program—Aesthetics and Media Writing track, History and Contemporary Thought track, Political Thought track and Religious track—shares a core of courses.

English Teacher Certification Programs

English Teacher Certification Programs help students develop the skills needed to succeed as teachers in the classroom. The programs work in conjunction with the College of Education and Human Services to prepare students for certification as elementary, middle, and secondary school teachers. The department offers the B.A. within the English/Education area and the B.A. in Teaching English to Speakers of Other Languages. A minor in English Education is also offered.

Creative Writing Program

The Creative Writing Program helps students prepare for careers in editing, publishing, law, advertising, journalism, and communications, in addition to helping them grow as practicing poets and/or fiction writers and teachers of creative writing. Students may earn a B.F.A. in Creative Writing degree or a B.A. in English/Creative Writing track. A minor in creative writing is offered as well.

Literature Program

Literature Program students examine the fiction, poetry, drama, and film of a wide variety of traditions, from ancient to contemporary. The program helps students develop a broad sense of literature, focusing on both traditional and non-canonical writers in English. The B.A. degree in English/Literature is available, as well as minors in literature and rhetoric.

Philosophy Program

Students enrolled in the Philosophy program explore the historical trajectory of philosophical thought and its current applications in many professional and academic fields. Philosophy is a critical and reflective discipline, the study of which strengthens students’ evaluative and moral reasoning skills, and prepares students to succeed in future endeavors such as the arts, law school, seminary, medicine, business, computer science, and education. Students may earn a B.A. in Philosophy with academic tracks offered in history and contemporary thought; aesthetics and media-writing; political thought; or religious thought. A minor in philosophy is offered as well.

Graduate Programs

The Department of English and Philosophy offers the Master of Arts in English (with concentrations in literature, English education, and English with philosophy as a cognate discipline); a Master of Arts in Teaching English to Speakers of Other Languages (TESOL); a low-residency Master of Fine Arts in Creative Writing; certificates in Professional Writing and Gender Studies and courses toward an English specialization in the Master of Arts in Education (secondary education) degree.

Master of Arts in Education: Secondary Teacher Leader with English Concentration

CIP 13.1205

The Department of English and Philosophy provides instruction in support of the M.A.Ed. in Secondary Teacher Leader with a concentration in English. Prospective students should contact the graduate coordinator in the academic subject department and the College of Education and Human Services for details on advising and graduate program design. If approved by the English graduate coordinator, nine of these hours also may be counted toward the M.A. in English (thesis or non-thesis) as a second degree if they fall within the eight-year time limit.

Master of Fine Arts in Creative Writing

CIP 23.1302

The M.F.A. in Creative Writing (low-residency program) offers advanced instruction to creative writers whose circumstances prohibit them from pursuing a traditionally structured course of graduate study. The M.F.A. offers possible concentrations in fiction, poetry, and creative nonfiction. The degree requires four 9-day residencies at Murray State University, offered twice annually; most of the curriculum requirements are satisfied via distance learning. Each tutorial must be accompanied by a residency.

Requirements for Admission

- Applicants must comply with the Murray State University requirements (see Graduate Admissions). Additional requirements for admission are:
  - a baccalaureate degree with a major, minor, or evidence of sufficient study in literature;
  - committee approval of application based on the following factors:
    - writing sample in appropriate genre (see below)
    - GPA at previous undergraduate and/or graduate programs
    - two letters of recommendation.
  - a personal essay (200-300 words) addressing the applicant’s experiences and goals as a writer
  - preparation and experience as demonstrated in personal statement.
Submission of Writing Sample

All applicants must declare a specialization in fiction, poetry, or creative nonfiction and submit electronically a writing sample within the chosen genre. The writing sample may be composed of one or multiple works. Prose samples should be double-spaced, and all samples should be typed in a legible font: fiction 20-30 pages; creative nonfiction 20-30 pages; poetry, 15-20 pages. Applicants who would like to be considered in more than one genre should submit multiple writing samples. The 200-300 word personal statement should address the student’s experiences and goals as a writer. The writing sample and personal statement should be included in the same Word document and emailed as an attachment to msu.mfaadmissions@murraystate.edu with the subject heading Application Materials. Writing samples are not returnable.

Required Electives ......................................................... 9 hrs

Graduate-level contemporary literature course (3 hrs)

Graduate-level literature courses (6 hrs)

Other Requirements

The creative thesis is the final body of work produced and submitted by the M.F.A. student. The thesis semester culminates in an oral thesis defense. A student’s enrollment in ENG 668 is subject to the approval of the M.F.A. Director and the student’s present and past mentors. If the M.F.A. Director, in consultation with the student’s present and past mentors, determines that the student is not ready to enter the thesis semester, the student must enroll in both another residency and another tutorial in the chosen genre. After completing ENG 668, each student must enroll in ENG 669, a final residency, during which he/she will give a teaching presentation, read publicly from the thesis, attend a post-thesis defense meeting, and finalize thesis revisions.

Interim Chair: Kathy Callahan. Faculty: Beahan, Belue, Bolin, Callahan, Carpenter, Claridy, Heern, Hilton, Humphreys, Irvin, Mulligan, Pizzo, Rashid, Schell, Strieter.

Department of History course offerings support University Studies requirements, provide concentrations in American, European, and global history for a major or minor, and prepare students for secondary certification.

The department contributes substantially to the world civilizations and culture courses and offers electives, the American Experience and Modern Europe, which meet University Studies requirements in several categories. These University Studies courses encourage students to appreciate the diverse paths humans have taken to the present as well as their own distinctive cultural heritage.

Specialized instruction for undergraduate majors and minors in history is intended to develop knowledge of the past and the skills of critical inquiry necessary for careers in teaching, the professions, government and business. Many students are currently combining a major in history with a major in other fields. The department also serves as a home for the Religious Studies minor.

The Master of Arts in History provides excellent preparation for doctoral work in history, for law school, or for other professional and graduate education. The history M.A. is also excellent preparation for careers in government, public and private agencies concerned with history, and any career requiring research, analytical and writing skills. It also enables teachers to meet Rank II certification in Kentucky public schools.

Graduate Program

Graduate Coordinator - Charlotte Beahan

The Master of Arts program in history offers advanced study to qualified students in American, European, and global history. The course of study emphasizes the development of a coherent view of the past, the effective communication of ideas, and familiarity with a variety of historical schools of interpretation.

The department has three offerings leading to the Master of Arts degree. The thesis track concentration is a general program of advanced study that requires a thesis; the two non-thesis tracks replace the thesis with additional training in the major/minor areas.

The department’s principal graduate course offerings are in American and modern European history, complemented by course offerings in global history.

The history department awards a limited number of assistantships each academic year. Applications for assistantships should be made directly to the history graduate coordinator. Applications are due by April 1 for the forthcoming academic year.

Admission applications for the upcoming fall term should be received by June 1 of the same calendar year, and mid-academic year admissions should be received by October 15 for the following calendar year. The Department of History does not review any graduate applications until all materials—the graduate application, Graduate Record Examination (GRE) scores, letters of recommendation, writing sample, and official transcript—have been received by the graduate coordinator. The Department of History reserves the right to review transfer credit viability.

The graduate application and GRE scores should be sent to Graduate Admissions and Records, Murray State University, Sparks Hall, Murray, KY 42071. All other materials should be sent to Graduate Coordinator, Department of History, Murray State University, 6B Faculty Hall, Murray, KY 42071-3341.

Requirements for Admission

Applicants must meet the Murray State University requirements (see Graduate Admissions). For non-native speakers of English, a TOEFL score of 22 for each section of the iBT, or an IELTS score of 7.0 with no band lower than 6.5, or a previous degree earned from an accredited U.S. institution subject to departmental standards. Additional requirements are as follows.

Unconditional
• An undergraduate major or minor in history.
• GPA of 3.0 or better in history courses.
• GRE score of at least 900 (V+Q) or the equivalent on the new scoring system.
• 3-5 page (minimum) sample of historical writing.
• Two letters of recommendation that addresses candidates ability to do graduate work in history.
• For non-native speakers of English, a TOEFL score of 22 for each section of the iBT, or an IELTS score of 7.0 with no band lower than 6.5 or a previous degree earned from an accredited U.S. institution subject to departmental approval.

Conditional
Students will have their skills in reading and writing assessed by the departmental graduate coordinator prior to enrollment in graduate courses. A student with a GRE score of less than 900 (V+Q), or the equivalent on the new scoring system, may be admitted conditionally to the history M.A. program, but the student must satisfy the conditional requirements for admission.
Master of Arts in History

CIP 54.0101

Students admitted to history graduate study should consult with the department graduate coordinator to declare a course of study which meets the requirements of the thesis and non-thesis concentrations.

CIP 13.1205

Department of Modern Languages
4A Faculty Hall
270-809-2501

Chair: Reika Ebert. Faculty: Barnett, Bodevin, Ebert, Garrett, Hatakeyama, Kane, Picech-Reisinger, Riegler, Romero-Gonzalez, Saint Paul, Wu.

The Department of Modern Languages provides an important facet of the liberal education of all students by offering a variety of courses in Chinese, French, German, Japanese, Spanish, and the cultures and literatures of those countries where these languages are spoken. These courses increase the cultural and linguistic awareness of students, help them fulfill the University Studies and B.A. requirements, and prepare them for language examinations in graduate school. Modern language courses develop skills and provide information and experience that help prepare students for citizenship in a rapidly changing world.

The Modern Language major is designed to train students to communicate effectively with native speakers of the language studied; read and appreciate the cultural and historical significance of important works of native literature; and understand fundamental cultural characteristics of another part of the world. All students take a common core of courses as well as several electives and a senior seminar. Student progress in language skills is measured according to standards established by the American Council on the Teaching of Foreign Languages in order to ensure an appropriate level of proficiency in the various skills.

The department strongly recommends that all language majors and minors study abroad for at least one summer session. The Kentucky Institute for International Studies offers programs in a number of countries. Other study-abroad opportunities are available through the department and the Institute for International Studies. The department also strongly recommends that all language majors take more than the required number of hours in order to attain increased proficiency in the language.

Those who pursue a language as a major or minor may apply their language training to careers in various fields of endeavor. The study of modern languages and cultures opens the door to a cosmopolitan world which any educated person should be able to understand and appreciate. It gives the student significant practical advantages in the modern world of employment and magnifies humanistic insight which is of incalculable value in successful living.

The department strives to keep pace with the changing needs and interests of students and society and with the most current teaching methods. Creativity, flexibility, and individual attention characterize its programs. The department's facilities include modern offices and classrooms and the Language and Culture Resource Center, a multi-media lab providing students with computer-assisted learning tools as well as e-mail and Internet access.

Modern language courses are also part of the curriculum in the Master of Arts in English, the Master of Arts in Education, the Master of Arts in TESOL, and the English with Modern Languages as a Cognate Discipline non-thesis requirements.

Bachelor of Arts (B.A.) Degree Requirement. All B.A. degree candidates must complete 12 hours of course work in a single foreign language. Credit may be granted for high school study of the same language based on the departmental challenge process (see Credit by Examination) and students may begin language study at the level indicated by their placement exam (see Placement). Some departments require the B.A. in the College of Humanities and Fine Arts.

Placement. All students new to the language programs at Murray State are required to take a placement exam to determine at which level of their language they should begin (102, 201, 202, 301, etc.). This exam will be required of all students with prior language experience, including native speakers. We strongly advise students to begin to fulfill their language requirement during the first 30 hours of the undergraduate degree at MSU. The Placement Exam can be taken on-line by accessing the Department of Modern Languages web page at www.murraystate.edu/academics/collegedepts/collegeofhumanitiesandfinearts/modernlanguages/placementpolicy. The results of the Placement Exam will be forwarded directly to the department.

Credit by Examination. If a student has previously acquired knowledge of French, German, or Spanish (the languages regularly taught at MSU), a maximum of 12 college credits, up to and including the level of 301, may be awarded. The awarding of credit will be based on the applicant’s success in either of the following Tracks:

Track (1): The Departmental Challenge Process. The Departmental Challenge Process consists of taking the Placement Exam and completing the appropriate course (102 or higher) determined by the score on the Placement Exam, with the grade of A or B. The Placement Exam score must be current (within the calendar year). The student then must complete an “Application for Challenge Credit” available in the department office and file the approved application with the Registrar’s Office. There is a fee of $5.00 per credit hour for each hour of credit awarded. It is the responsibility of the student to apply for Challenge Credit and application must be made while the student is enrolled at MSU.

Track (2): The CLEP Examination. Students may take the CLEP examination which is administered by the Counseling and Testing Center on campus. Credit is awarded based upon the student’s score on the CLEP examination. CLEP examination scores must be recent (within the calendar year) to be eligible for credit. Fees are required for the CLEP examination.
Track (3): The Advanced Placement (AP) Examination. Credit is awarded based upon the student’s score on the Advanced Placement Examination in Language and/or Literature.

Support Courses for Language Majors
Each language major must select one course from a list of approved courses. The support course will not be counted as a University Studies elective. A list of approved courses may be obtained from the Department of Modern Languages.

Graduate Program

Master of Arts in Education
Secondary Teacher Leader with French, German or Spanish Concentration

CIP 13.1205

The Department of Modern Languages provides instruction in support of the M.A.Ed. in Secondary Teacher Leader with a concentration in French, German or Spanish. Prospective students should contact the graduate coordinator in the academic subject department and the College of Education and Human Services for details on advising and graduate program design.

Foreign Language Examination
Students who are required by their departments to demonstrate proficiency in a foreign language may satisfy the requirement in one of the following ways:
• by completion of two years of college-level study in one language with an average grade of C or better; or
• by earning an appropriate score on the CLEP exam. See www.collegeboard.com/testing and refer to CLEP.

The native language of a foreign student may be accepted to meet the graduate language requirements if recommended by the student’s advisor and approved by the graduate coordinator of the student’s college.

For those disciplines which permit the substitution of statistics, computer science, or a combination thereof for a foreign language, the requirement may be met by the satisfactory completion of two semesters of the permitted substitute courses with grades of C or better. These courses are in addition to the total number of hours required for the degree. A proficiency examination administered by the appropriate department may be accepted in lieu of the required course work.
The Department of Music at Murray State University is dedicated to maintaining a tradition of excellence in the programs it offers, the performances it presents, and the music professionals it graduates. The department seeks to enrich and engage the campus, community, and region through its performances and educational programs.

The department strives to provide educational opportunities that prepare students to make meaningful contributions in the world as performers, composers, teachers, scholars, and leaders in the music profession; to nurture and develop its students' musical and intellectual abilities; to expand the understanding and impact of the art of music by promoting performance, composition, and research; to build professional leadership and entrepreneurship skills in its music majors; to educate the university student population about music's intrinsic value as a part of the human experience and its central role in human culture by providing courses and performance opportunities for all MSU students; to be a musical resource for area children and adults, including teachers and other professionals; and to be a visible and active center for the arts, enriching the cultural life of the campus and the region.

Undergraduate degrees offered in the department are the Bachelor of Arts, Bachelor of Science, and the Bachelor of Music. The Bachelor of Music degree program offers tracks in composition, performance, and music education. The Bachelor of Science is offered in music and music business. An academic minor in music is also available.

In addition to admission to the University, prospective music major and minor students must be admitted to Department of Music academic programs through a qualifying audition in their performance area. Contact the Department of Music for further information.

Note: Performance proficiencies in applied music must be passed after the second and fourth semesters of study to remain in the program and to progress to the next level of applied lessons. A grade of C or better is required for graduation in all courses, including ensembles, specifically required by the music degree being pursued.

The degree programs reflect a core of basic musicianship and general study needs common to all musicians. The attendant specialized courses help students develop and refine competencies toward careers in teaching and performing as well as other specific interests.

The general college student (non-music major) is encouraged to continue or develop music interests and involvements through participation in performance groups, attendance at performances, and by taking a wide variety of courses open to the non-major.

Music facilities in the Price Doyle Fine Arts Center include recital halls, rehearsal halls, computer-lab and digital synthesis, keyboard laboratories, practice rooms, repair facilities, recording facilities, specially equipped classrooms, and storage facilities.

Accreditation

The Department of Music has been an institutional member of the National Association of Schools of Music since 1936. Degree programs are arranged in conformity with the requirements of the National Association of Schools of Music.

Scholarships

Grants-in-aid and scholarships are available to the music major and, in some cases, for non-major music participation.

Graduate Degree

The Department of Music offers the Master of Music Education (M.M.E.) degree. The M.M.E. degree seeks to serve the region's teachers with opportunities to continue their professional growth, refining and extending their skills and knowledge beyond the baccalaureate level. The program provides leadership, enrichment, and resources for the region's music professionals in an atmosphere of musical activity.

• refine and extend knowledge and skills in music: its history, composition, performance, pedagogy, and cultural values;
• provide opportunities for students to explore and apply technology as a tool for teaching music; and
• create networks among music professionals and assist the transition from intern teacher to mentor teacher and cooperating teacher.

Department of Political Science and Sociology

5A Faculty Hall
270-809-2661
government@murraystate.edu

Curricula of the department afford enough specialization and career education to prepare students for enrollment in professional and graduate programs, or for participation in various occupational classifications immediately upon graduation. Students completing baccalaureate programs in the department will be granted either the Bachelor of Arts or the Bachelor of Science degree. Major programs are offered in political science, public administration, international studies, and sociology. Minor programs are offered in political science, international studies, legal studies, social science, and sociology.

The Master of Public Administration program provides education and training for professional careers in government agencies and non-profit organizations. Graduates of the program are now successfully pursuing careers as city managers, public works directors, regulatory officials, criminal justice professionals, public human resource administrators, and military and diplomatic officers, as well as other professions. Classes are offered at a variety of locations and through a variety of formats. Courses are offered at the main campus in Murray, at the English Center at Fort Campbell, and at the Murray State campus in Hopkinsville. Some courses are offered on-line as well as through an interactive television (ITV) format that reaches the MSU campuses in Paducah, Henderson, Madisonville, and Hopkinsville.

The Department of Political Science and Sociology provides several avenues to professional and academic competence. Besides specific courses preparing students for a broad variety of occupational choices in international studies, politics and public administration, and legal studies, University Studies classes furnish an opportunity for students to become more familiar with the international environment and the American political system. The department functions in close harmony with other academic units across campus and draws from other programs to complement its offerings. Pre-law advising and law school placement services are coordinated by the legal studies component within the department.

The outcome of the above fields of study is that graduates of the programs must demonstrate oral and written communication skills which follow the conventions of standard English usage and meet the criteria for clarity, organization, development and thoughtfulness; must have acquired basic understanding of research methodologies, i.e. the use of statistical analysis and computer applications; and should have acquired an understanding of the basic concepts, systems and problems of their discipline in particular and liberal arts education in general.

Curriculum Outline for Pre-Law
Most of the nation's law schools reject the idea of a rigid pre-law curriculum as a means of preparing students for entrance into law school. The undergraduate pre-law student is actually working toward two different objectives: admission to law school and an undergraduate education which will complement the law degree once obtained.

The type of undergraduate degree pursued may depend on the type of law in which you intend to specialize. For example, if you want to become a tax attorney, you might concentrate in accounting and economics. If copyright law interests you, an undergraduate degree in music or art would be beneficial. Those students interested in government service or politics may want to pursue a degree in political science.

Many students do not have a particular field of law identified prior to entering college. For these students a broad liberal arts education, including particularly those subjects which deal with people, such as political science and the other Social and Self-Awareness and Responsible Citizenship, is important. Murray State University’s commitment to a liberal arts education through its University Studies requirements is appropriate to this objective. All pre-law students should be aware that communications skills are very important, and for this reason, courses in English, speech and foreign languages should be considered.

International Studies

Global awareness and cross-cultural skills are increasingly important in a variety of careers. Educational, social service, business, governmental and non-governmental organizations recognize that these skills are important for solving complex problems in a culturally diverse context. The major in international affairs and the minor in international affairs allow students in a variety of disciplines to acquire these skills in support of expertise in their chosen fields.

Sociology
The sociology program is oriented toward increasing students’ understanding of human society, the groups and institutions of which it is composed, and its impact on human beings. Sociology provides many distinctive ways of looking at the world so as to generate new ideas and assess the old. Too, sociology offers a range of research techniques which can be applied in more specific areas whether one’s concern is with crime, provision of health care, or problems of poverty and social inequality. Students find employment in a variety of fields including case and group work, probation and parole, or human rights advocacy, to name a few. The sociology program will provide students with a solid foundation for their chosen careers upon graduation or for more specialized education in such fields as law, public health, or a number of other professional fields.

Department of Psychology
Chair - Patricia Long
212A Wells Hall
270-809-2851

The Department of Psychology provides a liberal arts oriented program of studies which covers the many topics of the broad discipline of psychology. The curriculum is designed to enable students who major in psychology to (1) become knowledgeable about the basic principles of behavior, (2) acquire research and problem-solving skills, and (3) learn how psychological knowledge can be applied in service settings to promote human welfare. The department also provides a flexible minor which can be combined with majors in other fields to provide students in those fields an appropriate background in psychology.

Completion of the psychology major prepares the student for a variety of activities in occupations in which an understanding of human behavior is important (e.g. public relations, personnel management, social welfare, mental health and child care). Professional careers in psychology normally require graduate training and the undergraduate major constitutes excellent preparation for entry into graduate programs in psychology. This major also serves as a good background for entry into graduate study in a number of other professional fields which have a strong psychological dimension or require a knowledge of behavioral science research techniques.

The Department of Psychology offers either the Master of Arts or the Master of Science degree in general experimental psychology and in clinical psychology. A joint objective of both graduate programs is to provide graduate study whereby the student can seek career opportunities in governmental agencies, teach in two-year colleges, or pursue doctoral level study in psychology or related fields. An additional objective of the program in clinical psychology is to train the student in the areas of psychodiagnostics and psychotherapeutic techniques where these skills can be utilized in a community setting to include comprehensive care centers, schools, and mental hospitals.

The department’s physical facilities include laboratories which are equipped for research and a computer laboratory. In addition, the Psychological Center, operated by the department, serves as a training facility for graduate students and as a mental health resource for referrals from university and community agencies. The center, located in Wells Hall, has facilities for psychological testing and therapy.

Graduate Program

The curriculum in the psychology graduate program has been developed to provide exposure to the breadth of psychology as well as intensive study of those areas which are currently of greatest concern in the field. In addition, work in statistics and research design is provided and participation in research is encouraged. The program in clinical psychology is approved by the Master’s in Psychology and Counseling Accreditation Council (MPCAC).

Psychology graduate courses are offered on a regularly scheduled rotation. Assuming no undergraduate course deficiencies, it is possible for a student to complete either degree program in two years.

Requirements for Admission

The deadline for submission of applications is March 15. Early submission of applications is encouraged, as admission is competitive. Applications arriving after March 15 will be considered only if space is available. Applicants must meet the Murray State University requirements (see Graduate Admissions). Additional requirements for unconditional and conditional admission are as follows.

For non-native speakers of English, a minimum IELTS score of 6.5, paper-based TOEFL score of 550, an internet-based TOEFL score of 88, or a previous degree earned from an accredited United States institution is required.

Unconditional

- A minimum of 15 undergraduate credit hours in psychology, including courses in research methods, statistics and physiological psychology or their equivalent.
- A grade point average of 3.0 or higher overall and in psychology courses.
- Official score report of the Graduate Record Examination.
- Three letters of recommendation.
- A written statement of purpose for entering graduate work in psychology.
- For the general experimental program, a statement of personal research interests.

Conditional

The Department of Psychology does not normally admit students who fail to meet the university requirements for unconditional admission (see Graduate Admissions). However, students who otherwise meet those standards but lack the prerequisite undergraduate courses in psychology are encouraged to enroll in those classes as irregular or unclassified students. Such students should contact the department chairperson.

In some cases, students lacking only one or two undergraduate prerequisite courses may be admitted with the understanding that they must complete those undergraduate courses along with their graduate courses.

Please Note: Admission into Department of Psychology graduate programs obligates students to adhere to the ethical standards of the American Psychological Association as well as the academic conduct principles and the interpersonal skills policies of the department. Any violation of these is cause for dismissal from the program. In the case of the clinical program, the department reserves the right to deny admission to or discontinue the training of any student who in the judgment of the department’s graduate training committee would not be able to function competently in the profession of clinical psychology.

The Department of Theatre will provide: excellence in theatre instruction through classroom and production events; an outlet for our regional community to experience excellent theatre productions and theatrical support; and innovative approaches to promote life-long, creative ventures for our students after graduation.

The department utilizes two performance spaces: Robert E. Johnson Theatre (344 seats) and Actor’s Studio Theatre (55 seats). The department utilizes “smart” classrooms, dance/acting studio classrooms, and other facilities on the MSU campus for instruction.

Students are educated as liberal arts theatre practitioners in preparation for employment or graduate study in fields requiring strong oral and written communication skills, teamwork, and a goal-oriented approach to work.

For the student body at large, the program affords the opportunity to experience, as audience or participants, a wide range of dramatic forms selected both to educate and to entertain.

Each theatre major is required to work in or on 12 faculty-directed productions prior to graduation. Enrollment in THD 106 as required by the major and/or minor evaluate this production requirement. At least one study abroad experience is highly encouraged for all theatre majors and minors. The department faculty participates in study abroad courses to facilitate this activity. Students may participate in two organizations in the department: Alpha Psi Omega (national honorary dramatic society) and Sock and Buskin (theatre student organization).

Scholarships

Scholarships are available to qualified students who major in theatre. For additional information, contact the department chair.
